Armed Robbery Prevention and Procedures

Armed robbery is one of the most serious and potentially dangerous crimes committed in the United States today. A robber commits a hold-up because he or she believes that their profit will be worth the risk. By decreasing the possible profit and increasing the risk of apprehension, potential victims can reduce their chance of becoming a target. Personal safety is always the most important consideration when planning how to react to an armed robbery. This document provides basic information that can and will diminish the chance of becoming a victim.

What to Do Before You Are Robbed

Businesses must face the possibility of robbery on their premises realistically, and they should give security training a high priority. Employees should be trained in the latest methods of robbery prevention, which will improve their chances for safety and their ability to provide information that could help in the apprehension of the criminal. In addition, this preparation can lessen the emotional after effects of being involved in an armed robbery.

- Opening and closing procedures should be established. These could include:

Have several employees present when opening and closing the business.

- Inspect the business for forcible entry before entering the business.
- One employee searches the premises before admitting others. If all is clear, the employee entering the store first can signal the companion with some prearranged sign.
- At closing make sure no one is hiding in the business.
- At closing one employee can enter the parking lot first and can signal the companion with some prearranged sign if it is safe.

- Every business should operate with a cash protection system. Each employee handling cash should be trained in the various possible types of attack, and the employee should follow good cash handling practices. The cash system should work two ways by protecting both lives and money. Periodic checks should be made to be sure all cash protection rules are being followed. By following these cash handling procedures, the business will make it a less attractive "mark" and limit the robber's profit while reducing the business' potential losses.

Keep a minimum of easily accessible cash on hand, both in cash drawers and in the safe. During evening and late night hours of operation, cash levels should be kept to a minimal amount per cash register ($50 or less) to conduct business. Transactions with large bills (over $20) should be prohibited. Use special quick-deposit drop safes in which money can be easily deposited when there is an accumulation of funds. Keep reserve funds locked in a money safe and deliver new funds only when required.

Use a money safe that requires more than one employee to open and remove daily receipts. Always lock money safes after the day's operating funds are obtained. Serious loss can be reduced by having special separately locked inner compartments or lockers where the change funds are maintained. Dual control of safes and two-key inner compartment money safes require at least two people to open the door, thus helping to prevent robberies.

Try not to open the cash safe too often. Do not maintain more surplus cash in the store than is absolutely necessary.

Always keep money out of reach of customers.

Make sure employees do not display large amounts of money. Cashiers should not balance their cash in the checkout area before closing. This procedure should be accomplished in an office or other secure area less visible and vulnerable than the checkout area. Bank teller station counters should be designed to keep cash out of sight.

Do not allow employees to count large amounts of cash in areas visible either to the public or to other employees. Large amounts of money exposed to view represent a temptation not only to robbers but to employees and customers alike

Exercise plenty of precautions when making bank deposits. These precautions include:

- Try to make bank deposits during daylight hours with more than one person.
- Vary the route to the bank.
- Do not make any stops along the way.
- Vary the time of day the deposit is made.
- Disguise the currency bags in plain wrappings or in another container (i.e., brief case, etc.)
- Vary the personnel doing the deposit, if possible.
- Vary the vehicle used.
- Request police or armed guard protection when handling or transporting large amounts of money.

• Physical security measures include:

Maintaining a well-lighted interior visible from the street. Make sure signs, displays, plants, etc. do not obstruct the view from the street of the customer service area. Maintaining visibility into the business establishment at all times is important.

Physical barriers such as bullet-resistive enclosures between customers and employees provide the greatest protection for workers. Installing pass-through windows for customer transactions and limiting entry to authorized persons during certain hours of operation also limit risk.

Storage rooms that has a lock that can be opened from the inside. Robbers sometimes lock employees in storage rooms. Hide a key in the room if the lock cannot be opened from the inside.

- Marking the edge of the doorway at varying heights to identify the height of a robber.

- Mechanisms that permit employees to have a complete view of their surroundings such as convex mirrors, an elevated vantage point, and placement of the employee/customer service and cash register area so that it is clearly visible outside the retail establishment serve as deterrents.
  - Securing the teller and cashier operations. Install barriers to keep unauthorized persons out of these areas.
  - For secure areas, use doors and gates with latches that automatically lock on closing.
  - Install a timed delay switch to turn off exterior lights after the employees have gone for the night.
  - Prominently displayed surveillance camera equipment. Be sure to have the equipment serviced regularly and to only use video tapes the amount of times recommended by the manufacturer.
  - Use a dual key, drop or delay-action time-lock safe.
  - A silent alarm system. This alarm system:
    - Could incorporate a daytime holdup feature that reports to a remote supervised area. Make sure employees know how and when, and when not, to activate the alarm.
    - Could be unobtrusively activated by an employee who is forced to open the safe or vault.
    - Including standby power and transmission method, should be tested periodically. When accidentally set off or when it malfunctions, it should be reported immediately to the police to insure an adequate response.
    - Should be taught to new employees and periodically reviewed with those employees who need to know.
  - Seldom used rear and side doors, windows, and other accessible openings should be kept locked always. Doors should have viewers. Doors used for deliveries should be locked when not in use.
  - Maintain good exterior lighting. Adequate outside lighting of the parking area and approach to the business during nighttime hours of operation enhances employee protection. Surveillance lighting to detect and observe pedestrian and vehicular entrances of the business can also help. Adequate lighting within and outside the establishment makes the store less appealing to a potential robber by making detection more likely.
  - All shrubbery and trees, that a criminal could use to hide, should be cut back and maintained.
- In certain high risk areas or businesses, consideration should be given to the use of additional deterrents. These may include:

The presence of off-duty police or uniformed guards.

The use of an armored car service for delivery and pick-up of cash.

- Maintain a list of emergency contact telephone numbers near the telephone. Have witness description forms available for employees and witnesses to complete after a robbery has occurred.
- Vary lunch hours and coffee breaks so several employees are always on duty.
- Employees should be trained to watch for and report suspicious actions of people inside and immediately outside the premises. Don't hesitate to call the police when worried about a potential risk. Should the person leave before the officer's arrival, write down the description of the suspect and their vehicle for possible police use. A suspicious person that is seen today may turn out to be the robber who returns tomorrow. Examples of suspicious activity could include:

Persons monitoring business operations.

Persons asking about closing times, volume of business, the amount of money on hand, etc.

Persons who appear to just loiter in the area checking the business layout and operations.

Persons who may be waiting for a lull in activity and fewer customers.

- Give every customer entering the business a friendly greeting. Look each customer directly in the eyes. A robber does not want to be identified and such human contact may spoil it for some would-be robbers.
- Require employees ask for the identification of workers, repair people, guards, police officers, etc. before permitting entry into secured areas.
- The counter or work area should be cleaned regularly to remove old fingerprints. This increases the possibilities that a robber may leave a readable print behind. Oil or wax-based cleaners should not be used.
- Try to have at least two employees on duty always. Employing two clerks is a form of "target hardening" because it may make a robbery more difficult to complete and, therefore, more unsuitable to a potential robber.
- Don't be tempted to use phony signs or equipment. The use of phony surveillance cameras, for example, can destroy the credibility of all other security precautions. Robbers soon learn to ignore them.
- Publicize the fact that the business uses good cash protection techniques and good protection equipment. Let potential robbers know their profits will be small and their risks high by using signs to convey this message. These visual deterrents (decals, placards, signs, etc.) should explain what safe method is used (dual key, drop or time delay safe) in hopes of deterring a potential robber or explaining the method should a robbery occur.
- Many police departments have procedures for alarm verification and robbery response. Finding out what they are is advisable so that the employees will know what to expect in case of an armed robbery.

Procedures During a Robbery

Proper employee training of the procedures to follow during a robbery is vital to surviving the confrontation. Conduct documented training and discussion periods so that every employee knows their part and has an opportunity to ask questions. A few minutes of brief review on a regular basis will help to insure the proper reaction in case of a robbery. The overriding consideration in dealing with a robbery is to reduce the possibility of injury.

- Do not resist the robber. The money is not worth risking a life. Take no action that would jeopardize the safety of personnel or customers. Cooperate with the robber and do not try to become a hero. In most situations, robbers almost never hurt anyone who cooperates.
- Do not use or encourage the use of weapons against the robber. Introducing another weapon into the situation increases the chances of someone becoming injured during the robbery. No amount of money is worth the risk of endangering a person's life.

- Try to inform the robber of any surprises. If someone is expected back soon or if you must reach or move in any way, tell the robber what to expect so they will not be startled. A suspicious move by an employee may trigger a violent reaction endangering the lives of many people.
- Follow the robber's commands, but do not volunteer to help. The longer the robbery takes, the more nervous the robber may become and more apt to become violent.
- If the robber demands a specific amount of money, only give them the amount they demand.
- Try to include "bait money" along with other cash. This "bait money" could be a bundle of currency with recorded serial numbers (record the denomination, serial number and year of several tens and twenties on a piece of paper kept separate from the register) or concealed dye packs. The silent alarm may be designed to activate by the removal of the bait money.
- Try to keep customers and employees calm during the robbery.
- If the robber displays a firearm or claims to have one, consider it loaded and that they would use it.
- Activate the holdup alarm, if possible, only if it can be safely done without being obvious to the robber.
- Try to alert other employees of the situation by using prearranged signals.
- Be observant. Plan to be a good witness. Try to notice as much as possible about the robber. Make mental notes of the following:

The number of robbers.

The robber's physical characteristics, including: race, sex, age, height, weight, facial characteristics (head shape, color of hair, color of eyes, shape of eyes, nose and mouth, etc.) speech patterns (i.e., accents), scars, marks and/or deformities, right or left-handed.

The robber's clothing description

Any names used by the robbers

Any peculiarities exhibited by the robber (i.e., smelled of alcohol, appeared to be "high" on drugs, etc.).

Description of any weapons used. Try to notice barrel length, barrel color, color of grips, whether a pistol is automatic or a revolver.

- If the robber uses a written note, try to place it out of sight to retain it as evidence.
- After the robber has the money, offer to have employees and customers lie down instead of waiting for the robber to decide what to do, such as knocking you down or tying you up.

Procedures After the Robbery

If these steps are followed after a robbery, the business employee will be in a better position to provide information to assist law enforcement officers in arresting the perpetrator, and more importantly, in protecting the employee and innocent customers from harm.

- Establish which personnel will take certain actions if a robbery occurs. Decide now which employee will lock the doors, who will call the police, who will care for the injured, who will look for the getaway car, who will protect the evidence, etc. Don't assume these jobs will be done automatically.
- Do not chase or follow the robber. The robber may shoot at any pursuers or the police may shoot at you, too, thinking you are a robber.
- Secure the doors so the robbers cannot reenter the store. Stop business operations and place a sign on the door advising customers that the business is "Temporarily closed due to an emergency." Do not let anyone in, except emergency personnel.
- Call the police immediately. Be sure to tell them if anyone is injured so they may dispatch medical personnel if necessary. Give the police the time of the robber's departure, their description and direction and method of travel. Stay on the telephone until they tell you its okay to hang up. The speed of reporting is critical to the apprehension of the offender.
- Care for any injured people.
- If it can be safely accomplished as the robbers leave, try to note their method of escape along with the direction of travel. If a vehicle is used, try to find out the make, color, type, license number and the state of registration.
- Try to preserve any potential evidence. Protect the scene of the crime and do not touch anything the robber may have touched. Keep people out of the area.
- Write down the description of the robber. Witness description forms can be available to fill descriptive data and other remarks or if not available, use any available paper. Do not "compare notes" with others until a police officer arrives and conducts the necessary interviews.
- Ask witnesses to remain until the police arrive. If they insist on leaving, try to obtain their names and addresses.
- Contact any other individuals who may need to be contacted (i.e., store owner, bank security, etc.). Emergency telephone numbers should be accessible and the notification policy clearly established.
- Do not discuss the crime with outsiders until police give permission to do so. Refer all questions to the police.
- Do not tell or estimate how much money was lost to the robber unless absolutely necessary. The police can list the amount taken as an "undetermined amount of cash" until the exact amount is determined in an audit. Find out and record anything else that may have been stolen. If an exact amount of cash taken during the robbery should be released to the media and they report a large loss, other robbers could be attracted to the business or others in the chain.
- Assist the investigating officers in every way possible. Cooperate with the police by being available for interviews, not being reluctant to identify suspects and giving evidence in court when notified to do so.

SENSIBLE CANNABIS USE

The information below is reprinted from the Cannabis Action Network (www.cannabisactionnetwork.org)

Like any medicine, cannabis can be misused. Excessive or inappropriate use can contribute to problems including sleepiness, overeating, and time management issues. Due to the political climate surrounding cannabis use research, clinical studies have produced widely conflicting conclusions about the true benefits and potential side effects of cannabis use. Always listen to the advice of your doctor and use good judgment when using medical cannabis.

Common sense issues:

Don't use while operating motor vehicles or machinery

Don't use while nursing or pregnant

Medical marijuana will impair your judgment and ability to make quick decisions that could be hazardous to your health!

These guidelines help identify ways of medical cannabis use in a positive way!

**Adults should use cannabis as a part of a healthy, balanced, and responsible lifestyle.*

**The decision to use cannabis should be made freely, and not as a result of social pressure.*

**Cannabis users should be well informed about its effects on themselves and others. These effects include both legal and health risks and personal consequences.*

**Never use cannabis as an excuse for antisocial or irresponsible behavior.*

**Cannabis users should model and reward responsible use, particularly with new users of medical cannabis.*

**Develop sensible cannabis use limits for yourself based on personal health, situational, and cultural factors. It is important to be objective about your personal cannabis use and listen to the constructive advice of others.*

**Avoid cannabis use that puts you or others at risk, such as driving, at work, or in public places. Remember, personal use of cannabis is still illegal under federal law and penalties are stiff.*

**Use of cannabis by children is inappropriate and should be discouraged.*

**Cannabis use should contribute to, rather than detract from, a patient's health, well-being, creativity, work, relationships, and social obligations.*

METHODS OF CONSUMPTION

Medical cannabis can be ingested in many different ways. Effects may vary slightly with different methods of consumption. The length of time it takes for the medicine to take effect, and the length of time the medicine remains effective, can vary greatly with different methods of consumption and quality of the cannabis (THC).

SMOKING CANNABIS

The most common ingestion method has traditionally been to smoke the dried flowers and/or leaves of the cannabis plant. Dried cannabis can be smoked in a pipe, rolled into a cigarette (or 'joint'), or smoked using a water pipe (commonly called a bong). Water pipes were once thought to filter out some carcinogens in cannabis smoke, but studies suggest that there is no significant health benefit to smoking from a water pipe over other smoking methods. Regularly smoking any plant material can have a negative impact on pulmonary health; therefore, [REDACTED] recommends patients use vaporizers or edible forms of medicine whenever possible.

VAPORIZING CANNABIS

A vaporizer is a device that allows the patient to separate the cannabinoids (the therapeutically effective chemicals in cannabis) from the plant material without burning. This is possible because cannabinoids vaporize (turn to a gaseous form that can be inhaled) at a temperature lower than that is required for burning, as a result the patient can inhale without taking in the burned plant material that constitutes "smoke." While scientific studies are lacking, it is commonly believed that vaporizing is a healthier form of ingestion than smoking cannabis. Vaporizing is believed to mitigate many if not all of the negative effects of smoking. It tastes better as well. If you are used to smoking your medicine, you may think you aren't "getting anything" at first when you vaporize, because the vapor does not burn the throat. Even though the vapor does not burn, it is still quite effective. Use caution and wait a few minutes to feel the full effects before taking more.

EDIBLE CANNABIS

Edibles are foods cooked with butter or oil that has been infused with cannabis. Edible cannabis usually takes longer to take effect (20 minutes to an hour or more) and the effects generally last longer than smoking or vaporizing. Edibles taken on an empty stomach will take effect significantly faster than if taken immediately following a meal. It is difficult to know how strong an edible medicine will be, and because it can take an hour or more to feel the full effects, it is easy to over-medicate. Use caution! If you have taken your medicine in an edible form, wait at least an hour to be sure you know how strong it will affect you before taking more.

EDIBLE TREATS

Any food that contains butter or oil can be made with cannabis-infused butter or oil, but the most common edibles are cookies, brownies, cakes, or candies.

OILS AND HONEYS

Cannabis infused oils can be used directly in foods, consumed in capsules, or mixed with honey to be used in tea or other foods.

TINCTURES

A tincture is a concentrated form of cannabis in an alcohol solution. Tinctures can be taken under the tongue or mixed into water or other beverages.

GUIDE TO USING MARIJUANA

Using Marijuana

Smoking

Smoking marijuana produces the most immediate effects and permits the most refined control of your dosage. Smoking any material is not good for the lungs, but the amount of marijuana you need to smoke is so small that you need not be overly concerned. It is better to smoke the flowers rather than the leaves as this also reduces the amount you will need to smoke.

Vaporizing

Cannabis vaporizers are designed to let users inhale active cannabinoids while avoiding harmful smoke toxins. They do so by heating cannabis to a temperature that is just below the point of combustion where smoke is produced. At this point, THC and other medically active cannabinoids are emitted with little or none of the carcinogenic tars and noxious gases found in smoke. Many medical marijuana patients who find smoke marijuana highly irritating report effective relief inhaling through vaporizers. Also, vaporizers are very efficient so they can save money in the long term.

Eating

Marijuana can be eaten. When consumed this way, it is usually baked in brownies or cookies, and sometimes made into a candy. It takes longer to feel the effects when eaten, and may take longer for you to learn to control your dosage. However, when you do feel the effects, they may be stronger than those felt by smoking. You may also feel a certain heaviness in your body. This will not hurt you. Schedule your time so that you can relax when you take it.

Tea

Like other herbs, marijuana may be made into a tea. Boil the water first and pour it over the marijuana. Let it steep for longer than you would for common black tea; approximately an hour and a half. Add 1 teaspoon of butter. The effects are similar to eating it.

Tincture

To prepare a tincture, use 5 parts fresh marijuana to 1 part vodka. If you are using dried Marijuana, as is usually the case, use 10 parts marijuana to 1 part vodka. An easy way to do this if you don't have measuring equipment, is to fill whatever container you are using (glass is preferable as you don't want to leech any residues from metal containers.

Resulting tincture will be more potent.

Compress

Follow the recipe as for tea. Make as much as you need to thoroughly soak the cloth you intend to use. Apply to pain and leave on ½ hour.

Marinol

Marinol is a synthetic petrochemical analog of THC, one of the active elements found in marijuana. Some patients find that it helps relieve nausea yet takes a long time to work. Do not smoke this product. It has the potential for overdose. Use only under the supervision of a doctor.

Side Effects

Marijuana is one of the safest medicines: it is impossible to consume enough to produce a toxic effect in the body. However, if you are unfamiliar with it, there are some effects which you should be aware of so that you can use it more effectively.

Uneasiness

Marijuana usually has a soothing and comforting effect on the mind. Sometimes, however, people do experience feelings of anxiety. If this happens to you, there are several things you can do. Try to stay in environments where you feel naturally comfortable. If you feel anxious, sit or lie down, breathe deeply, and relax. If you have loved ones with you, hold each other for a while. If you have a pet, hold or stroke it. Eating will often quickly reduce the feeling of anxiety. Then, the next time you use it, try reducing your dosage. Because of our social training, you may have feelings of guilt. Know that you have a right to your medicine.

Hunger & Thirst

Many patients use marijuana to stimulate appetite. If you are not using marijuana for this purpose, drink water or juice. If you wish to eat, eat good nourishing food rather than sweets.

Redness in the Eyes

This will not hurt you. If you must go out in public and are concerned about others' Reaction to the redness, wear sunglasses or use eye drops.

Drowsiness

If marijuana makes you sleepy, take a nap if you can and wish to. As with all medicine that can produce drowsiness, don't drive or operate heavy machinery.

Sleeplessness

If you find that you can't sleep for a while after using marijuana, try reducing your Dosage and avoid using it for about two hours or so before you want to sleep.

Short-term Memory Loss

Sometimes people find it difficult to carry on a complicated conversation, keep track of details, or perform complex tasks. If this happens to you, schedule your time so that you don't have to do these things when using your medicine.

Giddiness

Many people find that things which normally don't seem funny become quite amusing when they use marijuana. Most people enjoy this effect. If you must deal with situations where humor would be inappropriate in your judgment, schedule your time so that you don't have to deal with them when you are taking your medicine.
